1 What's it all about

We have one ambition: preparing leaders for a better world.

But it has to start with you. So, what is your ambition?

Can you make a difference in the field you are passionate about?

Future leaders need to be curious, tech-savvy, ethically motivated, solution oriented, creative. You think you might fit the bill (we never know until we try)?

Maybe you have been playing with an idea for quite some time, but you felt you didn't have all the competences? Possibly this is what you were waiting for.

Here is the opportunity: you can obtain a 50% scholarship to attend a full time Master in a discipline of your interest at the Luiss Business School Amsterdam Hub by developing, with the help of AI, a (business) project that has the potential to improve our world.

Yes, it's a contest because creativity needs a bit of good competition, and since AI is here to stay, let's use it for the better.

OF COURSE, you can receive the scholarship only if you are eligible for the master programmes AND if you are admitted to them.

2 How to participate

Candidates should use their own expertise and creativity to design a prompt - text + visual or video - connected with the theme "Let's make a better world", develop a business idea with the help of AI that can contribute to change the world, and upload it here.

Therefore, choose one programme and one related topic indicated below.

We know that the list of domains where to apply our creativity is almost infinite, but these are the postgraduate studies you can choose from, because the scholarships will be granted for full time Master programmes that cover them:
